

OCI opens in Cavendish Square!

OCEAN Independence Cavendish White is delighted to announce the opening of a new office in central London this month.

The prestigious Cavendish Square address is home to full time brokers Harry Lort-Philip and Stewart Woodward, as well as travelling brokers from all other OCI offices. There is plenty of space for regular visitors which will very much include our new build division under Michael White and Peter Thompson, as well as senior charter broker Rebecca Pattinson, who will now divide her time between London and Monaco.

The facilities are excellent and include a spacious board room for client meetings. The official opening party will take place in the Autumn when we look forward to inviting our esteemed guests to join us in toasting the addition of this exclusive new address.
